Home Study: Come Follow Me - Book of Mormon: (CFM-IF)

This Week: August 17 - 23rd:

"The Rock of Our Redeemer" Helaman 1-6 pg130-133

The book of Helaman begins with serious difficulties among the people of the Nephites. We read about political intrigue, bands of robbers, rejection of the prophets, pride and disbelief throughout the land. But we also find examples like Nephi and Lehi and the more humble part of the people who not only survive but thrive spiritually.

How did they stay strong while their civilization began to decline and fall apart? The same way any of us can stay strong in the mighty storms the devil sends — by building our lives upon the rock of our Redeemer, who is Christ, the Son of God.

Next Week: August 24 - 30th:

"Remember the Lord" Helaman 7-12 pg134-137

Nephi's father, Helaman, had urged his sons to "remember, remember": he wanted them to remember their ancestors, remember the words of the prophets, and most of all remember our Redeemer, who is Christ.

It is clear that Nephi did remember, because this is the same message he declared years later with unwearyingness to the people. "How could you have forgotten your God?", he asked. All of Nephi's efforts — preaching, praying, performing miracles, and petitioning God for a famine — were attempts to help the people turn to God and remember Him.

In many ways, forgetting God is a bigger problem even than not knowing Him, and it's easy to forget Him when our minds are distracted by the vain things of this world and clouded by sin. But, as Nephi's ministry shows, it's never too late to remember and turn unto the Lord your God
