Lo, children are an heritage of the LORD: and the fruit of the womb is his reward. As arrows are in the hand of a mighty man; so are children of the youth.

Happy is the man that hath his quiver full of them

Home Study: Come Follow Me – Doctrine and Covenants

June 21st-27th "Worth The Riches of the Whole Earth"

Pg 108-111

Doctrine & Covenants 67-70

From 1828 to 1831, the Prophet Joseph Smith received many revelations from the Lord, including divine counsel for individuals, instructions on governing the Church, and inspiring visions of the latter days.

But many of the Saints hadn't read them. The revelations weren't yet published, and the few available copies were handwritten on loose sheets that were circulated among members and carried around by missionaries.

Then, in November 1831, Joseph called a council of Church leaders to discuss publishing the revelations. After seeking the Lord's will, these leaders made plans to publish the Book of Commandments — the precursor to today's Doctrine and Covenants.

Soon everyone would be able to read for themselves the word of God revealed through a living prophet, vivid evidence that the keys of the mysteries of the kingdom of our Savior, are again entrusted to man. For these and many other reasons, Saints then and now consider these revelations to be worth the riches of the whole Earth.
