"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain Unalienable Rights.... That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

"And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor. "

Home Study: Come Follow Me - Doctrine and Covenants

July 5th - 11th

"Great Shall Be Their Reward And Eternal Shall Be Their Glory"

pg 116 - 120; Doctrine & Covenants 76

What will happen to me after I die? For centuries, many Christian traditions, relying on Biblical teachings, have taught of heaven and hell, of paradise for the righteous and torment for the wicked.

But can the entire human family really be divided so strictly into good and bad? And what does the word heaven actually mean? In February 1832, Joseph Smith and Sidney Rigdon wondered if there wasn't more to know on the subject.

While pondering these things, the Lord touched the eyes of their understandings, and they were opened. Joseph and Sidney received a revelation so stunning, so expansive, so illuminating, that the Saints simply called it the Vision. It threw open heaven's windows and gave God's children a mind-stretching view of eternity.

The vision revealed that heaven is grander and broader and more inclusive than most people had previously supposed. God is more merciful and just than we can comprehend. And God's children have an eternal destiny more glorious than we can imagine.
