Butterfield Canyon 7th Ward

December 26th 2021

Some of us live in beautiful and peaceful surroundings, yet we are experiencing inner turmoil. Others feel peace and perfect serenity in the midst of great personal loss, tragedy, and continuing trials.

Sometimes it has been where a family is gathered around [one] who is near death. Yet [they] give us all, a living testimony that the Lord's promise of peace is true:

"These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world."

It is only through following the Savior that any of us can find peace and serenity in the trials that will come to all of us. When heavenly messengers heralded the birth of the Savior, they declared, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace" I bear my testimony as a witness of Jesus Christ that the Father and His Beloved Son can send the Spirit to allow us to find peace in this life, whatever tests may come to us and to those we love.

"The Matchless Gift of god's Son" page 218

In 1838, the Prophet Joseph Smith declared, The fundamental principles of our religion are the testimony of the Apostles and Prophets concerning Jesus Christ; that He died, was buried, and rose again the third day, and ascended into heaven; and all other things which pertain to our religion are only appendages to it.

As Latter-day Saints, we rejoice in the blessing of continuing revelation through modern prophets and apostles. We are thankful for their inspired words of counsel, warning, and encouragement.

But most of all, we are blessed by their powerful testimonies of Jesus Christ at Christmas time and throughout the year. These are more than just stirring words of skilled writers or public speakers or insights from scriptural experts. They are the words of God's chosen, called, and authorized special witnesses of the name of Christ in all the world
