Behold, they will crucify him; and after he is laid in a sepulchre for the space of three days he shall rise from the dead, with healing in his wings; and all those who shall believe on his name shall be saved in the kingdom of God. Wherefore, my soul delighteth to prophesy concerning him, for I have seen his day, and my heart doth magnify his holy name.

Come Follow Me - Old Testament: February 14 - 20th

"Is Anything too Hard for the Lord" p33; Genesis 18-23;

Abraham's life, filled with events both heartbreaking and heart-warming, is evidence of a truth Abraham learned in a vision — that we are on earth to be proven, to see if we will do all things whatsoever the Lord our God shall command.

Would Abraham himself prove faithful? Would he continue to have faith in God's promise of a large posterity, even when he and Sarah were still childless in their old age? And once Isaac was born, would Abraham's faith endure the unthinkable — a command to sacrifice the very son through whom God had promised to fulfill that covenant?

Abraham did prove faithful. Abraham trusted God, and God trusted Abraham. In Genesis 18-23, we find stories from the lives of Abraham and others that can prompt us to think about our own ability to believe God's promises, to flee wickedness and never look back, and to trust God regardless of the sacrifice.
